AFFORDABLE CONTEMPORARY HOME WINS 2014 HIA CSR VICTORIAN HOME OF THE YEAR

A stunning four bedroom, three bathroom home with an exceptional level of finish has been awarded the 2014 HIA CSR Victorian Home of the Year.

Grollo Homes has been awarded one of the housing industry's highest accolades for its Grollo 108 display home – the 2014 HIA-CSR Victorian Home of the Year.

Grollo Homes was awarded the honour tonight at the HIA-CSR Victorian Housing and Kitchen & Bathroom Awards at Crown Towers before a crowd of hundreds of industry leaders and peers.

'This home is a polished contemporary designed dwelling with first rate finishes throughout,' the judges commented. 'It represents phenomenal value for money,' they added.

The striking use of timber, stone, brick and glass as façade elements lend a very contemporary feel while the soaring window panes allow the home to be flooded with natural light.

The sleek lines of the façade are carried into the home where stained Australian hardwood floors provide the perfect backdrop for the inspired combination of materials and colours used in making this home something more than just a place to live.

Spread over three levels adjoined by a central floating staircase, the Grollo 108 provides both functional and luxurious living with plenty of storage space. The imposing wide entry to the first floor flows through to the main entertaining areas of the home, before leading to a spacious alfresco and deck area. Generous high ceilings further extended by the removal of cornices highlight the precise and square design.

A world class kitchen with Calcutta marble benchtops and European appliances hides the pantry, wine cellar and a functional laundry neatly behind.

Upstairs, a large master bedroom features an opulent ensuite with striking freestanding bath, separate toilet and walk in robe, providing a tranquil haven for any owner. In the basement, owners can enjoy a private gym, the width of the double garage, a home office and storage room of equal size.

HIA Victorian Executive Director Gil King congratulated the winners. 'It is difficult to come up with new adjectives to describe the ever-increasing standards that are set year after year. It is very clear that with each new year the entrants look to the benchmark set by the previous year. In some categories there has been an extraordinary increase in the standard of entries. Challenges imposed by restrictive regulations simply have not impacted on the innovation and imagination displayed by our entrants. In fact, higher quality of finish and presentation has more often than not compensated for limitations imposed by red-tape and bureaucracy,' Mr. King said.

'Competing against an array of outstanding homes all demonstrating first class craftsmanship, the Grollo 108 simply delivers value for money without compromising on style, finishes and quality,' he said. 'Modern yet warm and inviting. The use of timber, stone, brick and glass draws this home back to the natural elements,' he added.

Grollo Homes will go on to compete against other Display Homes from around the country at the 2015 HIA CSR Australian Housing Awards, to be held in Queensland in May.
